Introduction

The following selection of worksheets include worksheets for use in the classroom and home environment as well as worksheets for adult helpers working on their own body image and mental health. The worksheets for adults aim to assist them to work on their own body image and mental health in order to be able to better help children and young people. It is recommended that, at a minimum, you read the whole chapter related to the worksheet, for background, before engaging in the activity.

Each worksheet includes the chapter and page references so you can read the relevant parts of the book first, before using the worksheets as an activity. Where page numbers are indicated, the activity is described in more detail. Worksheets can be used in chronological order if using the whole book as a resource in the school or home environment or for counsellors addressing the issues with clients. The worksheets are made to be flexible so the user can also choose to use individual worksheets that cover a particular topic or change the order of material to be covered. The worksheets are meant to be both fun and educational as well as opening up further conversations around the issues covered.

All about body image and culture

Everyone has a body image, it's the thoughts, feelings and behaviours we have regarding how we think we look. Our body image has developed over time with influences such as family, friends, media, culture, and our experiences of teasing just to name a few. We can choose how we feel about our bodies. We can say 'no' to teasing, including standing up for our peers. By focusing on what we like about our bodies and all the wonderful things our bodies do for us, will make us feel good about our bodies and selves. Think about all the positive things people have said to you about your body and self. Everyday think about the hard work your body does to help you at school, at home, with your friends, your interests and how it keeps you having fun and enjoying life. If you're unhappy for whatever reason, seek help. There are lots of adults who can help including your teachers, counsellors, parents, carers, friends, doctors, coaches and many other people you can trust.

The culture we live in plays a big part in how we feel about our bodies. Following is an activity that helps you better understand the cultural messages that are influencing you and what's a healthier way of thinking about people's bodies.

What culture do you live in and what messages are you aware of around what male and female bodies should look like?

Are these helpful?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How do they make us feel?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Body image over the centuries

(refer to pgs. 13 and 14)

Look up through google ‘body image changes over the centuries’ and have a look at the different body shapes and sizes for both men and women that were considered beautiful. See how they’ve changed?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How have ‘idealised’ (what the media says is beautiful) bodies changed over time?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How do you think these changes have influenced our perception of your bodies and selves?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How do these changes make us feel? Good? Bad? Indifferent?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What would it be like if we celebrated diversity in bodies?
Appreciating differences?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What would life be like if we all looked the same?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What's great about everyone looking different?

---

---

---

---

---

---

Cultural change and body image

(refer to pgs. 14–16)

Google changes in fashion, body size and beauty over the centuries. What do you notice?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What do you think about these changes over time?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What is deemed as beautiful by different cultures?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How do these differences impact on the way we feel about our bodies?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Does the focus on the body make us more self-conscious?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What impact does focusing on appearance at the exclusion of other things about us have?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

If there's only one way to look that's considered acceptable, what impact does this have on the way we feel about our bodies?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How does it feel if you don't look like this cultural ideal?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What can we do to reduce our focus on appearance?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What can we do to feel better about ourselves?

---

---

---

---

---

---

List some of the things that make you unique. These are things that are very special about you.

---

---

---

---

---

How do you feel when you focus on the things that are unique and special about you?

---

---

---

---

---

What makes you unique?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What do you believe in?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What are your aspirations (things you want for the future)?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Chapter 1 HOME Worksheet 1.1

---

Thinking about your body image

Parents/carers can do this exercise with their child. Start a discussion about the body and the things you love about your body then ask your child:

What do you like about your body? (add here what you like about their body)

---

---

---

---

What can your body do? (this is about the function of the body). Your body allows you to run and play etc

---

---

---

---

What makes your body unique?

---

---

---

---

---

Do you have any worries about your body? This opens children up to talking about what might be worrying them. Listen, but also try and problem solve without changing the body, instead focus on how you can make them feel better about the body they have.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How can we reduce those worries?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What makes your body feel good? You can devise a list and also suggest some things.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Reinforce that your child can always come to you and talk about their worries and troubles.

Chapter 1 HOME Worksheet 1.2

Your body beautiful

Here is a picture of a body. You can use this one or draw your own. Put words all over your body including all the things that make you unique. For example, you have blue eyes. You can also indicate which parts of your body you like. Make it as beautiful as you!

Chapter 2    Worksheet 2.1

Self-help

(also useful to do as a class or counselling activity)

Write your answers on this sheet so you can revisit as you work on your body image.

How do you feel about your body?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Why do you feel this way? What has influenced your body image?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Are these influences still relevant today? If yes, then how can you deal with them and if not, maybe it's time to let these thoughts go.

---

---

---

---

How would you like to feel about your body? You might like to write here some goals to work towards regarding how you think and feel about your body.

---

---

---

---

---

What do you need to do to feel better about your body? Try and focus on things other than changing the body. This might involve changing what you view, read, listen or being more assertive. Or letting go of the unrealistic standards you set for yourself.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Chapter 2    Worksheet 2.2

Addressing negative thoughts about the body

What negative thoughts do I keep having about my body?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What triggers them?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How can I stop these thoughts intruding?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How can I challenge them? What's the evidence for and against?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What standards do I set for myself and are these realistic?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What behaviours can I do that make me feel better?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What complements have I received? Try and take these on board.

Chapter 3 Worksheet 3.1

Positive role modelling

This is a great exercise for adults to make you more aware of messages that you're sending children and young people. It's important to convey positive messages. So set goals of how and when you're going to send out positive messages through your behaviour (what you do) and what you say.

What is a positive role model?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What do I do that role models body respect?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What do I do that needs change (i.e., my talk, my behaviour)?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How can I be a better role model?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

When and how am I going to implement this?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Chapter 3    Worksheet 3.2

---

Dealing with emotions

(refer to pg. 48)

This can be used in the school, home and counselling situations.

We all feel sad, angry, anxious, happy, excited and worried. Emotions are normal. It's good to know though, what to do and who to go to when we feel down and want to feel better. Use this worksheet to write down your ideas. You might like to draw pictures. You can keep adding to your list over the next few days as you think of more things that make you feel good.

What things make me feel good about myself?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

When I feel down, what makes me feel better?

Working with boys — Positive role modelling

read chapter 4 to understand the background to these questions

We all have role models or people we look up to. They can be male or female. Who are the people you look up to and why?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Which boys or men do you look up to and why?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What qualities do your role models have that you like?
(Your role model could be a friend, family member, teacher, celebrity)

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Chapter 4    Worksheet 4.3

Working with boys — Male body image and the media

(refer to pgs. 59–60)

The media presents us with images of what an ‘ideal’ boy or man should look like and we can feel pressure to look this way and feel down on ourselves if we don’t fit this ‘ideal’. We can try and do all sorts of things to try and change our body, but the ‘ideal’ body for a boy or man is the one that they’re born with. Everybody is different and its this difference that makes us interesting and unique. We need to celebrate our body and all that it does for us. What do you love about your body and what do you do to make it feel good?

How is the male body portrayed in the media?

---

---

---

---

---

---

Media Literacy

(page 70)

The media communicates messages to us that influence us to buy products. These messages can be unhealthy. Choose an advert and answer the following questions.

What is the message (or messages) being sent in this advert?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Is it a healthy message?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What are the lifestyles, values and points of view that are represented in this message?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Are there healthy messages being left out?

---

---

---

---

---
